Friends of Athens Asylum Cemeteries Veterans Ceremony

On Saturday, November 8, 2014, Friends of Athens Asylum Cemeteries (FAAC) held a Veterans Ceremony at Cemetery #1 at the Ridges in Athens OH. Two civil war veteran markers were placed, as well as two civilian markers.

Berta Lockhart with FAAC spoke at the SCCOGS meeting about the cemeteries. Most of those buried there are buried with only a number marking their grave. FAAC is giving names to those buried there in the form of proper grave markers. Mrs. Lockhart would not accept a speaker fee at our meeting, so the Society instead donated for the cost of one marker. Mr. Gillilan's marker was purchased with the money donated by SCCOGS. A family member of Mr. Gillilan's was present at the ceremony and said to thank the society very much for the marker. It means a lot to her and the family.

Many may not realize that the Asylum was originally built for Civil War veterans suffering from the effects of the war. It evolved into a facility for a variety of conditions. Of the over 1700 buried there, in a county by county breakdown, Scioto County has the most people buried there.
