A Debt of Gratitude— Thank You

How often do we receive a gift, a hug or some other form of praise and fail to say two simple words - "Thank You?" In this publication, the directors and officers of the South Plains Genealogical Society wish to extend a very sincere "Thank You" to the City of Lubbock, the staff at Mahon Library and the Friends of the Library to let you know how much our society and its members appreciate you. With your encouragement and considerable financial donations throughout the years, the society has been able to purchase computers, readers, microfilm/fiche, books and other supplies needed to help patrons research their family histories. What began with one bookcase and donated family histories is now a sizeable research collection housed in the city's central library. All SPGS officers and directors encourage our members and patrons to extend a hand to our benefactors and say -

"Thank You!"

Beginning Genealogy— Researching on the Internet

June 14, 2008 9:30 AM - 12:00 PM
Community Room -- Mahon Public Library

Continuing our classes on genealogy research, we look at the internet for records to help in our genealogy research. This month's program is a continuation of the program Mark Tidwell began in May.

This is last program in a series to help you, as beginners and intermediate researchers find your roots. All of us need to review our research or perhaps find new ideas from time to time. Genealogists can and should help other researchers locate data to find our ancestors. Be prepared to ask questions and learn. I promise you that you will "get hooked."

Pre-registration would be appreciated so the presenters will have an estimate for handouts. If you might attend, please call Vi at 794-6849 or e-mail her at chasviz58@sbcglobal.net

The classes are free and open to members and non-members. Come and bring a friend who is interested or wants to get started researching their family history. All you need is a pen or pencil and paper to take notes. You may even tape record if you like.
