

[LegacyUG] Entering a child of unknown sex

Thu, 22 Mar 2007 15:14:27 -0800

I know there is a child belonging to this couple, but do not know the name or sex. How do I enter him/her? The only options in the family view seem to be adding a daughter or a son, or linking to an existing daughter or son. There has to be a way.

You can either - from the Add menu (at top of screen) - select Add an unlinked person - put in what little info you have, click the (?) for the sex..... and then link the person you created to the family afterwards. I noted that for colors of the names etc, and for placement when you are looking at that person in the parent position of a family view, that it seems to treat the person as a male - I didn't do much research on how extensive that is.....

"OR"

You can click on add Son or add Daughter - and change the sex to (?).... (If you do add Daughter, then change the sex to (?) - it again is treated like a male for colors etc)

The color of Unknowns can be set to a different color from either Males or Females in Options > Customize - Colors Tab - so you can make them stand out or blend in the Child List in Family View depending on the color you choose.
